

I am Maguli Gordeladze, I work and live in Frankfurt/Main, Germany since 1997.

The short time this morning does not allow to explain the entire method with which I work in medicine, but I will try shortly to introduce you to it.

The 21st Century brings many changes to human life.

The 21st Century is the era of energy, electromagnetic waves, and this leads science and human life in a different direction.

The 21st Century connects the entire world. Mobile phones and internet are a part of this connection process.

Certainly this process also affects medicine.

Energy-medicine involves and heals the whole organism, because energy moves in the cells of the organism.

I am a pioneer as I have connected the classical medicine with the energy-medicine. And on the basis of scientific and practical experiences I have created a new medicine.

The energy-medicine helps and heals chronically sick patients who require the recovery of their health.

The energy-medicine is characterized by the fast results in healing.

Over the 20 years of my work in cooperation with the classical medicine I have recorded many of healed patients.

The verification of the method has been done in many countries – Georgia, Russia, Spain, Austria, former Yugoslavia, Hungary, Switzerland, and at the moment I work in Germany in a gynecological practice as Scientific Advisor for energy-information medicine – and this already 13 years.

Over 7 years I headed a scientific laboratory in the first children's hospital of Tbilisi, Georgia, where physicians recorded 1000 cases of healed children.

Until today the scientific part of my work includes the treatment of the lymphatic and the cell system, which involves the entire organism.

This offered the chance to help patients with cancer diseases after the chemical therapy and to revive entirely the energy in the organism and to regenerate the healing process.

The new era, the era of energy raises the patients hopes to live a long life. Energy conserves the health of a human. It is only necessary to study one's own organism.

In Germany I have published scientific books which were translated by Katrin Felshart who is present here and today as my personal assistant.

One of the books has the title „To live hundred years without diseases“.

Let me wish all of you a strong health because this is the fundament of “joie de vivre” and vitality.

Thank you.
